MARYLAND GAZETTE,

Containing the lateſt Advices foreign and domeſtic.

WEDNESDAY, December 24, 1760.

LONDON, September 23.

N the London Gazette is publiſhed, under Whitehall, September 23d, 1760, the Copy of a Letter from Colonel Eyre Coote, who commands his Majeſty's Forces in the Eaſt-Indies, to the Right Honourable Mr. Secretary Pitt, dated at Arcot Village, the 13th of February, giving an Account of the Situation of our airs on the Coaſt of Coromandel ſince his Arrival, and of happy Succeſſes; a Summary of which is as follows, viz. at on the 25th of November, 1759, he took the Field, on the 27th inveſted Wondivaſh, and erected Batteries; having made a Breach on the 30th, took the Place, and e the Garriſon (which conſiſted of 5 Subaltern Officers, rivate Men, and 800 Seapoys) Priſoners of War: There in the Garriſon 49 Pieces of Cannon, and a great ntity of Ammunition. That on the 3d of December he ſted Carangoly, and on the 10th, being near the Glacis, having diſmounted all their Guns but four, Colonel ennelly, who commanded, ſent out a Flag of Truce; on Account of his gallant Defence, Colonel Coote ted him the following Terms: "That the Europeans ould have Leave to march out with their Arms, two ounds per Man, Drums beating, and 6 Days Proviſions; e Seapoys to be diſarmed, and turned about their Buſiſs." The Garriſon conſiſted of 100 Europeans (Offiincluded) 500 Seapoys, and nine Guns. On the 20th enant General Lally arrived at Arcot, and took the mand; and on the 9th of January the Enemy were all otion. On the 10th General Lally marched with all Army towards Wondivaſh; and Colonel Coote thereupon d with our Army along the Banks of the River, in to obſerve their Motions, and cover our own Country. after ſeveral Skirmiſhes and cannonading each other, he 22d, about One o'Clock, when a Shot ſtriking one e Enemy's Tumbrils, it blew up, and their whole gave Way, and ran towards their own Camp; but g our Army purſuing them, quitted it and left us entire rs of the Field, together with all their Cannon, except ſmall Pieces, which they carried off. The Number of on taken is as follows; one 32, one 24, three 20, two 18, 4, two 3, and two 2 Pounders Iron; three 6, four 4, , two 2 Pounders Braſs; in all 22 Pieces: Round Shot, ; Grape, 110; beſides Tumbrils, and all other Imnts belonging to the Train. Brigadier General Buſſy, evalier Godrille, Quarter-Maſter-General, and a Numf other Officers, were taken Priſoners, moſt of whom wounded.

e French reckon they had 800 killed and wounded, of which our People buried in the Field; and have above 200 wounded Priſoners, beſides 40 not wounded. Loſs on our Side is 5 Officers and 48 Privates killed; Officers and 41 Privates wounded; and among our Troop, about 70 killed and wounded. The Enemy's , commanded by Lieut. Gen. Lally, conſiſted of 2200 eans, including Artillery and Cavalry, 400 Cofferies, etween 9 and 10,000 black Troops; 20 Pieces of Canin the Field, and 5 on their Batteries againſt the Fort; they blew up a large Magazine of Powder upon their at. Our Army amounted to 1700 Europeans, including ery and Cavalry; 3000 black Troops; 13 Pieces of n, and one Howitz. That during the whole Engage- the Officers and Men have ſhewn the greateſt Spirit. the next Day Col. Coote ſent a Detachment of Cavalry raſs the Enemy—and January 26, finding that General had retired with his broken Troops to Pondicherry, he apt. de Vaſſerots with 1000 Horſe, and 300 Seapoys, s Pondicherry, to deſtroy the French Country, and ed the Army to beſiege Chettiput. The next Day making a Breach, Le Chevalier de Tilly, with his on, ſurrendered Priſoners of War, conſiſting of 4 s, 54 Privates, and 300 Seapoys, with 73 Europeans ed; 9 Guns, and a good Quantity of Ammunition. Capt. Smith had taken a Party he was ſent after, of 10 ans, 50 Seapoys, and 2 Braſs 8 Pounders, a Captain, French Commiſſaries. That on February 2d. the Army ed and encamped within two Miles of Arcot—and the on of Timmery ſurrendered Priſoners of War; there it 6 Guns, 1 Serjeant, and thirty Men. That on of February, Colonel Coote having opened 2 Batteinſt the Fort of Arcot, and on the 10th got within ds of the Glacis, the Garriſon ſurrendered Priſoners : It conſiſted of eight Captains, 8 Subalterns, 236 , and between 2 and 300 Seapoys: There were in it ars, 22 Pieces of Cannon, and a great Quantity of all f military Stores. We had during the Siege 7 nonion'd and private killed; an Enſign and 16 wounded.

Of ſurprizing and taking Zierenberg.

he 5th of September in the Morning, the Hereditary went from his Camp at Warbourg, to Martzbergberg, Night with five Battalions, and 150 Highunder Capt. L'Lean, and 8 Squadrons of Dragoons, e Dymel, having left their Tents ſtanding: Proper ions were made to ſurprize the Town of Zierenberg; l's Grenadiers, the Highlanders, and Kingſley's Retook different Roads, and met with none of their ; when they came within Half a Mile of the Town, etts of the grand Guard challenged them, but did forward to reconnoitre. Our Men marched in the found Silence, but the Noiſe of trampling on the Gardens alarmed them, and they began to fire; upon which our Grenadiers, who had marched with unloaded Firelocks, (as had been agreed on) ran towards the Town, puſhed the Piquets, and having killed the Guard at the Gate, ruſhed into the Town, and drove every Thing before them; never was a more compleat Surprize. The Attack was ſo ſudden that the Enemy had not Time to get together in Numbers, but fired out of their Windows. It was about Two o'Clock in the Morning the Attack began; and about Three the Prince ordered the Retreat, after we had taken M. de Norman and M. de Coneras, and 40 more Officers and 300 Men Priſoners; a conſiderable Number were wounded and killed. Our Men gave Quarter to all who aſked it, and refuſed to take Money from the Priſoners who offered them their Purſes. General Griffin (who went into the Town with the Prince) received a Thruſt in the Breaſt with a Bayonet, but it is a ſlight Wound; it was done by one of his own Men, who heard him talk French to a Soldier whom he had ſeized; Lord George Lenox had his Horſe ſhot under him: It coſt us but ten Men; though as it was dark it was difficult to diſtinguiſh between Friends and Foes. But as Day was coming on, and as we might be cut off from Warbourg, we returned the ſame Way we came, bringing off two Pieces of Cannon, and arrived there at Eight in the Morning of the 6th without Moleſtation.

Cork, Auguſt 20. Saturday died, about a Mile Diſtance from this City, James Macdonald; he was 117 Years and two Months old, and of uncommon Stature, being ſeven Feet ſix Inches high. His eating and drinking, while his Health continued, were more than proportionable to his Height; for he could eat near four Pounds of ſolid Meat at a Meal, and drink of ſtrong Liquors in Proportion, without being in the leaſt intoxicated. His Limbs were larger than his Height required, his Hands and Fingers being of that prodigious Size, that a Lady's Bracelet might have ſerved him for a Ring. He was formerly ſhown for Profit, but that Way of Life obliging him to be much confined, and his Health requiring a good deal of Exerciſe, he took to the leſs profitable Employment of a Soldier; and enliſting as a Grenadier, he ſerved from the Year 1685 until after the Rebellion. In 1716 he returned to his native Country, where he had been a Day-Labourer until within theſe three Years.

CHARLES-TOWN (South-Carolina) November 1.

The Chactahs mentioned in our Paper of the 18th ult. arrived at Savannah that Day, and have had a Talk with Governor Ellis, who afterwards forwarded them hither, as it is probable good Uſes may be made of them at this Juncture; and Yeſterday they arrived here. They carried the Scalp they (with Duvall's Landlord, &c.) took to Georgia. Three of them are Men of Conſequence in their Nation, who ſeem very inveterate againſt the French, and have declared, that ſhould any Attempts be made by the Engliſh on the French Settlements at Louiſiana, the greateſt Part of their Nation would join them; not the Kings, they ſay, for they are corrupted and bought off by the French, but the Head-warriors and young Men. The following is the fulleſt Account we have yet received of what paſſed in their public Conference with Governor Ellis: It is in a Letter from Savannah, dated the 25th ult.

"His Excellency, in a Manner peculiar to himſelf, and always agreeable to Indians, ſaid every Thing that could give them favourable Impreſſions of us: He accepted their Scalp, as an Atonement for the Murder of a Pack-horſe-man among them, by the French Party: He promiſed, that our Traders ſhould have full Liberty to carry Plenty of Goods to their Nation; but obſerved, at the ſame Time, that the Creeks lay between them and us, and ſtood in the Door through which the Traders muſt paſs; that it behoved the Chactahs to keep it open, for which End they ſhould apply to the Creeks in a national Way, and inſiſt, that no Injury or Interruption might be offered to ſuch Traders as might be deſtined for their Country; and declare their Reſolution to revenge any Attempt to ſpoil their Path: This, he told them, was what the Creeks had done to the Cherokees, when the War broke out with them, and that, by doing ſo, they had hitherto enjoyed an open Trade, in Spite of the Endeavours of the French to engage them in a War with us. In fine, he endeavoured to convince theſe Indians, that their Supplies from the Engliſh entirely depended on the Good or Ill-will of the Creeks towards them and us, which he recommended to them to bear in Mind, and repreſent properly to the Headmen of their Nation; and alſo, that we deſired nothing more earneſtly than to eſtabliſh and maintain a friendly and commercial Correſpondence. The Indians ſaid a great Deal in Anſwer, which I have not Time to recollect; but approved and acquieſced in what the Governor told them; and they aſſured his Excellency that they would engage their Countrymen to keep the Path open, and take Satisfaction of the Creeks, if they did any Thing to hurt their Traders, or that might deprive them of their Trade. This Viſit I look upon as a favourable Circumſtance at this Time, as we are pretty ſure the Creeks will attempt nothing to our Prejudice while they are among us; and if we can continue to amuſe them in this Manner, perhaps we may be ſoon put into a Condition not to be terrified with every Rumour of their Motions and bad Talks, as we hitherto have been, eſpecially of late. Governor Ellis will embark in the Scout-boat, for Charles-Town, in a few Days. We could not enough regret his Departure at this Time, was not his Place ſo worthily filled by his Succeſſor, from whoſe Abilities and Integrity we aſſure ourſelves of continuing as happy as the Situation and Circumſtances of the Province will admit."

We hear, that on Sunday the 18th ult. a Party of Cherokees ſurprized, killed and ſcalped two old Men, near Pennington's Fort on Enore River, one named Llewellin, the other Hughes; and afterwards carried away Priſoners the Wife and the Son of the ſaid Hughes. This Outrage is ſuppoſed to have been committed by a Gang which the young Warrior of Eſtahtowih ſent out, to take Satisfaction for the Death of the Indian killed by Captain Dorgan's Rangers, and will no Doubt be deſired to be paſſed over by us as a Thing done in the Dark; which is however no Evidence, that the Cherokees have been humbled by the Terror of his Majeſty's Arms, the Weight of which, we hope, they will yet feel.

BOSTON, December 1.

We hear from Halifax, that upon the Arrival of Colonel Montgomery's Highlanders there, the two Battalions of Royal Americans left that Place, to garriſon his Majeſty's Forts in that Province, and to relieve our Provincial Troops, who, we hear, are ſoon to be diſcharged.

Yeſterday arrived here Captain Thompſon in an armed Schooner of the Board of Ordnance, from Louiſburg: In her came the Hon. John Henry Baſtide, Eſq; one of his Majeſty's chief Engineers, and Director of the Works in the Demolition of the Fortifications on the Iſland of Cape-Breton.

December 8. There were the greateſt Rejoicings in England on receiving Advice of the glorious Conqueſt of Canada.—It is but three Months (this Day) ſince it was compleated, and yet the Account has been Home, and the Particulars returned here in ſo ſhort a Time.—Major Preſcot, who went in a Packet from New-York, with the Advice of the Surrender of La Gallette, was not arrived the Fifth of October, the Day Major Barry arrived from Quebec, with the News of the Surrender of Canada.

NEW-YORK, December 4.

On Monday laſt arrived here Capt. Cornelius Livingſton, from the Muſqueto Shore. On his Paſſage here, on the 16th of September, on a deſolate Iſland, or Rief of Rocks, about three Leagues from Attwood's Keys, which lie in Latitude 23, 10. Longitude 73, 35. he ſaw a Wreck, to which he ſailed as near as he could, and ſent his Boat, but found no Perſon on board. The People who had eſcaped from the Wreck to the Rock, ſeeing the Veſſel, made Fires, and a Signal, and fired a Muſket they had ſaved. Captain Livingſton ſent his Boat to them, took them on board his Veſſel, and has brought them to New-York with him. They are Thomas Jewſon, late Mate of the Schooner Margaret, Capt. Moore, Henry ——, a Boy belonging to the ſaid Veſſel, and a Frenchman;——from them we have the following Account:

The Schooner Margaret, Capt. Moore, ſailed from Philadelphia about the 6th of Auguſt, bound to Jamaica; on the 13th, in Latitude 36, 3. they were taken by a French Schooner of 10 Guns, and 50 Men, belonging to Cape-Francois (who had before taken ſeveral Prizes) who took out all the Men, except the Mate and a Boy, and put five other Men on board, ordering the Veſſel to the Cape. The Prize-Maſter and three more were Spaniards, the other a Frenchman. The Spaniards formed a Scheme to run away with the Veſſel, and carry her to Barracoa, at the Eaſt End of Cuba, on the North Side; which Scheme they communicated to the Mate, who acted as Pilot, and promiſed him the Veſſel, and Money to ballaſt her to Philadelphia. On the Thirteenth of September, they came in Sight of Hiſpaniola, when the Spaniards took Charge of the Veſſel, told the Mate they had no more Buſineſs for him, he might go to ſleep, they were then Pilots themſelves. The Afternoon before, upon ſome ſlight Occaſion, they ſtabbed the Boy, but it did not prove mortal; they had alſo beaten and abuſed the Frenchman. He then propoſed to the Mate and Boy, to join in retaking the Veſſel from the Spaniards, which they agreed to, and that Night carried their Deſign into Execution, by ſurprizing and deſtroying the four Spaniards; they then ſailed to the Northward, intending for Providence, or the firſt Port they could make, but on the 14th at Night, run upon the Rocks aforeſaid (being not noted in the Draughts of thoſe Seas) they, with Difficulty, got aſhore in their Boat, where they remained till Captain Livingſton took them off on the 16th.

WILLIAMSBURG, November 28.

Laſt Week arrived in Town, from the Virginia Camp, Capt. John Stuart, one of the Officers of the unfortunate Garriſon of Fort Loudoun, who had the good Fortune to make his Eſcape out of the Cherokee Nation, by the Aſſiſtance of the Little-Carpenter.

PHILADELPHIA, December 11.

On Monday laſt came to Town, from Pittſburgh, the Honourable Sir JOHN ST. CLAIR, Deputy Quarter-Maſter General of his Majeſty's Forces in North America, and ſeveral other Gentlemen.—All quiet in that Quarter, and the Garriſon very healthy.

Since our laſt ſome Companies of Vaughan's Regiment arrived here from New-York, which, we hear, are deſigned to the Weſtward.

December 18. We hear that one of his Majeſty's 50 Gun Ships, commanded by Capt. Marſh, is loſt on the Iſle of Pines; but that the People were ſaved, and got to the Havannah.

ANNAPOLIS, December 24.

By a late Northern Gazette, juſt come to Hand, we learn, That a Ship from London is lately arrived at Boſton, by whom there is an Account, That Preparations are now making, with the utmoſt Expedition, for the greateſt and moſt important Expedition that ever went out. It is ſaid it will conſiſt of all the Land Forces and Men of War that can poſſibly be ſpared out of the Kingdom, under the Command of Field Marſhal Lord Viſcount Ligonier: That on the 17th of October an Action happened between an advanced Guard of the King of Pruſſia's, and the Auſtrians, in which the Advantage was intirely on the Side of the Pruſſians, who, notwithſtanding the Superiority of the Auſtrians, took 17 Pieces of Cannon, and kill'd and made Priſoners ſome Hundreds of them: That the Siege of Colberg was raiſed by General Werner, who arrived before that Place, after a moſt ſurprizing March from Glogau in 11 Days: The Ruſſians went off with great Precipitation, leaving their Tents, Cannon, Ammunition and Proviſions, to the Pruſſians.

By the ſame Paper, we have an Account from South-Carolina, That all Proſpect of a Peace with the Cherokees was vaniſhed; one Louis Lantinac, (a Frenchman born, once a Cadet in Capt. Nelſon's Company of Independents, after that a Trader from Carolina to the Cherokees, but now) a French Officer, had arrived with Preſents from the French, and perſuaded them to take up the Hatchet againſt the Engliſh: And that they were joined by the Creeks and Shawaneſe, and are ſuppoſed to be in all 5 or 6000, ſome ſay 7 or 8000: That they intended to lay Siege to Fort Prince-George, and deſtroy all the Country before them. That they had fully rebuilt their Towns and Houſes deſtroyed by Colonel Montgomery, and had ſufficient Supplies of Corn and Proviſions (to which ſome of our own People contributed) ſo that they were in a Condition to carry on the War, and in a Diſpoſition to do it with the utmoſt Fury. That they greatly deſpiſed the Engliſh, and treated their Threats with Contempt; eſpecially ſince Colonel Byrd with his Army, notwithſtanding his Menaces, was ſo far from being likely to moleſt them, that they were retired to winter in Auguſta County. The Indians refuſed to accept of the Priſoners of their own Nation, in Exchange for ours, with the greateſt Diſdain. This Account came by Expreſs from the Governor of Carolina to his Excellency General Amherſt, deſiring his Aſſiſtance. 1 Sam. xv. 2, 3. Thus ſaith the Lord of Hosts, I remember that which Amalek did to Iſrael, how he laid wait for him in the Way——Now go, and ſmite Amalek, and utterly deſtroy all that they have, and ſpare them not; but ſlay both Man and Woman, Infant and Suckling, Ox and Sheep, Camel and Aſs.

By Captain Taylor, arrived at Philadelphia from Jamaica, we learn, that his Majeſty's Ships Hampſhire, Boreas and Lively, fell in, and had a ſmart Engagement, with five French Frigates, of good Force; when they took two of them; run aſhore and burnt two others, one of which is ſaid to be M. Chateleau's Ship; and the Fifth, with ſome Veſſels that were under their Convoy, eſcaped.
